

INTELLIGENCE & SECURITY STUDIES

FPU BRINGS A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE INTO THE INTELLIGENCE & SECURITY STUDIES MINOR

MEGHAN PORCELLI '14

Domestic and international challenges to national security have expanded our focus on potential threats. Homeland security initiatives have created new opportunities for those prepared to protect freedom and human rights.

The Intelligence & Security Studies minor trains you in global politics, diplomacy, domestic security, and intelligence collection and analysis. Interdisciplinary courses provide the context to understand intelligence analysis, espionage, terrorism, and global security threats.

You will develop an understanding of contemporary security challenges from psychological, political, technological, ethical, and historical perspectives.

To earn the Intelligence & Security Studies minor, you must successfully complete a 21-credit course of study

INTELLIGENCE & SECURITY STUDIES

ADVANTAGES OF AN INTELLIGENCE & SECURITY STUDIES MINOR

The Intelligence & Security Studies minor enhances skills and knowledge needed if you plan to pursue a career in homeland security, criminal justice and the law, psychology, or other related fields. In addition to building foundational knowledge and skill sets for a diverse range of positions, the curriculum includes the study of legal and ethical issues relating to national security and defense. Upon graduation, you can pursue positions with: government agencies including the Department of Homeland Security, FBI, CIA, police work, and corporate and cyber security organizations. You may also continue into law school or graduate study in allied fields.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Required courses

CIT274	Computer Forensics and Security
PA209	Ethical Reasoning
PO201	U.S. Government
PO205	Contemporary World Affairs or
PO206	Comparative Politics
PS270	Psychology of Terrorism

Electives (Select two)

PO330	Global Security and Diplomacy
PS318	Psychology of Intelligence Analysis
PS319	Case Studies in Espionage

“We have real enemies in the world. These enemies must be found. They must be pursued and they must be defeated.”

–Barack Obama

APPLY TODAY!

franklinpierce.edu/iss

INTELLIGENCE & SECURITY STUDIES

Franklin Pierce University College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences